Breaking the Cycle South Pole

"If the leaders of tomorrow are inspired to explore, understand how the world fits together and how they fit within it, our global community will be all the richer for the decisions they will make toward a better world."

- Motivating the next generation to explore through adventure, leadership education, teamwork and community service;
- Encouraging communities – especially women and girls – to achieve their potential
- Stimulating a CSR culture that alleviates poverty, supports education and protects the environment

Kate's multi-award winning support team of Eric Phillips, Claudio von Planta and Phil Coates has a phenomenal track record in expedition management and world-class media production.
